Includes more than 3,200 multidisciplinary periodicals from inception.

In both the academic and professional realm, scholarly journals are a go-to resource for original research, in-depth analyses, review articles, and book reviews relating to any subject. To provide easy access to these authoritative sources, HeinOnline has compiled more than 3,200 multidisciplinary scholarly journals in a fully searchable, image-based database known as the Law Journal Library.

Though initially named the “Law” Journal Library, this resource has grown from a small collection of law reviews to a multidisciplinary journals database spanning more than 45 million pages. Its coverage is comprehensive, beginning with the first issue ever published, and includes works from nearly 90 different countries, as well as all 50 states and the District of Columbia. The more than 3,200 journals in the library span more than 1,500 research subjects, including political science, history, technology, religion, business, gender studies, psychology, and many more.

With a variety of searching options and the integration of Hein’s ScholarCheck, More Like This, Entities, PathFinder Subjects, and Keyword Search Builder, this database is a welcome addition in any academic setting.

Artificial Intelligence Searching

Natural language processing and machine learning tools have been released in the Law Journal Library and select other databases: More Like This, Entities, and PathFinder Subjects.

More Like This

When viewing an article, the More Like This tool uses a program to pull out "interesting words" as determined by an algorithm. Users are provided with a list of similar articles based on the interesting words. Adjust the boost factors of the interesting words, add a new term, or select a date range to modify the search results.

Indexing of "Not Currently Available" in HeinOnline

HeinOnline indexes the recent issues of several journals whose content is not currently available in the Law Journal Library. By indexing this content, users can search and browse the title, author and abstract information for articles within the volumes that are not yet available in full text within HeinOnline.

For those results where the full-text is not currently available, a light red box will appear and indicate "Full Text Not Currently Available".

Click on the article name to view HeinOnline's coverage, the publisher's information, and a link to the publisher's website. Set up ISSN/ISBN or OpenURL linking through our Branding Program (learn more here: <https://home.heinonline.org/services/account-branding/>) which gives users the ability to find the article or journal within another source in their library other than HeinOnline.
